

taken the place of the Pulpit, which just now seems to be a burning question, is discussed very forcibly by Dr. Cunningham Geikie in an article on "The Preacher as a Religious Force." Professor Elisha Gray makes use of his scientific knowledge in presenting "The Value of a Scientific Education for the Pulpit." Mr. George W. Cable, the distinguished novelist, discusses "Church Life and Church Work from the Point of View of the Layman,"—for which he has been specially fitted by his connection with the "Home Culture Club."

The Sermonic Section has a number of very able sermons by leading representative preachers.

In the Seed-Thought Section, Dr. Joseph Parker, of London, furnishes his "Studies in Texts;" Dr. T. D. Witherspoon, of Louisville, Ky., treats of "Raising Church Revenues;" Rev. George Francis Greene gives valuable suggestions from experience on "The Young Pastor's Study Machinery," from which no young minister should fail to profit. Dr. Arthur T. Pierson has his usual suggestive department, and Dr. Louis Albert Banks his "Sermonic Illustrations from Current Life."

The Exegetical and Expository Section opens with "An Excursus on Romans 9:3," by that greatest theologian of the South, Rev. R. L. Dabney, D. D., LL. D., who past away just after the article had been put in type. It was probably his last article furnished to any review. Dr. D. S. Gregory's article on "Philosophy of History and Old Testament" will furnish a much needed key to the history and literature of the Old Testament, to many a preacher who has been groping about for something definite on the subject.

Dr. David James Burrell is getting his "Prayer meeting Service" well in hand, and making it interesting, effective and spiritual.

Dr. Stuckenberg's department is, as usual, very suggestive and instructive. Some of the questions he asks and answers are quite up to date. Among them we notice: "Did Jesus Christ Teach Political Economy?" "Is it Not Natural for the Preacher to be Attracted by the Cultured and Wealthy Rather Than By the Wage-Earners?"

Dr. I. K. Funk, so long the chief editor of the Review, completes his interesting article on "The Seventh Day Adventists and Their Medical Missionary System."

The Editorial Section has many things that are not only valuable for present use, but also for careful preservation. There are many other things of special interest, among which we find "An Old Puzzle;" "Of Two Evils Choose the Least;" "Our Blue Monday Club;" and "Notices of Books of Homiletic Value."

The number will be found fresh, stimulating, and helpful.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials. Address, F. J.
